

Rádió és Televízió Szemle és Jel-Kép Repertórium
1969–1984

Edited by János Lukáts

Budapest, Tömegkommunikációs Kutatóközpont, 1984. 156 pp.

With the modernization of the Hungarian broadcasting a research centre was also established which published its quarterly Rádió és Televízió Szemle from 1969 to 1979. Then, along with the reorganization of the centre (into its present name and form Tömegkommunikációs Kutatóközpont) the journal appeared from 1980 on as Jel-Kép. A complete index to both is available in the present publication. First a cumulative index, then an index of subjects and authors follows. Since the above journals clearly reflect the recent attitudes of Hungarian society to mass communication, and the sponsoring research institute has been the first modern and successful research project in Hungarian applied sociology, the data in the repertory are very interesting and important to everybody interested in modern Hungarian society. (The title of the publication is different on the cover, and at the frontispice.)

Koren, Emil

Suomi – egyházi szemmel

Budapest, a Magyarországi Evangélikus Egyház Sajtóosztálya, 1984. 56 pp.

A small and personal report on the contacts between Finnish-Hungarian Lutherans. The author, provost of Buda parish and honorary D. Theol. of Helsinki University, has been the central figure in such contacts for already about half a century. It would be a worth-while task to write a more detailed and fully documented history of contacts between the two churches.

INSTRUCTIONS TO AUTHORS

Hungarian Studies follows in general The MLA Style Sheet, available at most scholarly institutions. For the format of the articles, reviews or short notices please consult one of our recent issues. Detailed instructions for preparing manuscripts are available from the editors. All manuscripts should be sent in two full copies, including all notes, tables and bibliographic references. Illustrations can be sent in one copy, indicating the copyrights. Manuscripts should include the title of the paper, author's full names, postal address and their institutional affiliations. The authors will receive one set of proof in which they are asked to correct only the misprints. Proofs should be returned to our Budapest editorial address within two weeks of receipt. Fifty offprints will be supplied free of charge.
